

Date of request: 18 June 2014

Question(s) asked:

I would like to see the evidence Qualitycourse provided that confirms the workers whose records were examined were apprentices, and that the requirement to pay National Minimum Wage was not breached?

Response(s):

We received no further information that conclusively proves the six former workers investigated by the GLA were employed as apprentices. This is because the GLA considers the responses provided by Qualitycourse inadequate to enable a comprehensive assessment to be made.